Pastor's Corner

As we all know, Lent is a time of year when it is especially fitting to spend time evaluating where sin might be crippling our walk with the Lord. Reflecting on our own sinfulness is not exactly a fun task, but it can be very fruitful. This is because when we are sinning, we are living in some way that keeps us from thriving in the way God made us to thrive. Once we can pinpoint whatever sin it is that is causing that malfunction in our souls, we can start working, with God's help, on a plan of repair.

The sacrament of Confession is a tremendous help in this process of healing. And healing, after all, is a key aspect of Lent's purpose. We often associate sorrow with Lent, and rightly so. Thoughts of Christ's Passion should trigger within us sorrow for our sins, but not a sorrow that simply demoralizes us. It is meant to be a sorrow that heals – makes us feel better because of the hope that is called for in light of the merits of Christ's Passion and death. As long as we remain in this life, through his Passion and death, Christ washes away any sin we might have committed, and he restores our souls to health and greater happiness.

I like to think of meditating on sin as working with a really good doctor. A really good doctor is someone you can trust to be compassionate about what is ailing you, but also to 'give it to you straight,' which you don't mind because you trust that he or she wants what is best for you. The Divine Physician is sort of like the best, smartest, most compassionate doctor imaginable – the kind you feel comfortable telling everything about your health, even the stuff you would normally be embarrassed to say, because you know that doctor cares about you and can heal you. Like a good doctor, Jesus does not want us to talk with him about what ails our souls because he wants us to feel badly about ourselves. Rather, the opposite is true. He wants us to feel better. Internalizing that basic truth about Jesus can actually help to make meditating on our sins spiritually therapeutic and even liberating. Jesus underwent his Passion and death so that we could be free from what wounds are souls, a freedom that unleashes us to run ever-less unencumbered, more healed, and ever-happier!

We know 40 Days for Life has made a difference in Vallejo/Benicia & American Canyon. Our volunteers have made extraordinary sacrifices to expose the abortion industry and to protect children and their mothers from abortion." Here are just a few of the positive results of the previous Vallejo campaign(s).

- Nine lives save from abortion that we know of
- Five Catholic Churches are working together
- Approximately 50 volunteers dedicated themselves as prayer warriors & few of them pray at the clinic every Wednesday, Thursday & Friday all year round, rain or shine.
